

hernan menendez | senior editor | project manager

To whom it may concern.

One day as I was watching TV an Army commercial came on, it's tagline asked the viewer ... "If somebody wrote a book about your life, would anybody read it?" After thinking about it for a few seconds, a smile came upon my face and I said to myself ... "Yes". Adding new pages to that book is what prompted me to recently move to Los Angeles. It's here that I believe I can be a part of a bigger and better team, surrounding myself with extraordinary professionals that will allow continued growth in my career.

I was born in Spain and later moved to Argentina. I'm a Senior Creative Editor with 20 plus years experience in the Post Production area in Buenos Aires, New York City, Miami and now in Los Angeles. As a storyteller, I believe it's about the ideas that come my way and ultimately telling a story the best way possible, by collaborating every day to help a team of people achieve the most out of any project. I have maintained an excellent relationship with key individuals in the Post Industry and clients alike by navigating through very complex timelines, achieving exceptional results with the personal attention that conveys a "can do" attitude. I understand the top management's perspective and devise innovative ways to do things better. I look for creative solutions and are always willing to go beyond with greater precision.
